

🍁 How is it that time of year again? 🍁

The leaves are falling, the pumpkin spice is beginning to make an appearance, and your gutters... well, they're probably filling up faster than a Black Friday shopping cart.

Before the next big rain turns your gutters into a mini waterfall (or worse—a squirrels personal AirB&B 🐿️), now's the perfect time to give them a good clean-out. Keeping your gutters clear not only saves your siding and foundation from water damage, but it also keeps your roof looking sharp and your home safe.

The damage critters can bring to you your home in a short time will shock you. Keeping an eye on what's above you is necessary. As the weather gets cooler they will be looking for places to bunk up and stay warm. Between that and debris filled gutter, there is a lot to check off in a winter prep walk through.

Not a fan of ladders? No problem—that's where we come in. Our team can make sure your gutters are clean, your roof is in top shape, and your siding is ready to take on the fall and winter weather like a champ. If it's been a while since your last inspection, reach out and get that checked off your list.

You can check out the video our crew took of the baby squirrels we found recently clogging a homeowners home using the link below! Then shoot us a message to stop by and make sure yours aren't the same!

Be sure and check out our squirrel video!
